The Anti-Bride - for Refinery29

With over 30 million portfolio views a month, Bēhance is also a great place to find new work. But, with so many portfolios to browse through, it can be difficult to know where to start.

Bēhance's team of curators select top graphic design portfolios to appear when you launch the home page. It also features filters, categories, and a search engine for you to explore on your own.

Bēhance was founded in 2006 by Scott Belsky, a banking firm manager, and Matias Corea, a graphic designer.

They wanted to give creative individuals the ability to share their designs and projects with the world -- for free and on their own terms.

Bēhance was acquired by Adobe in December 2012 but the team remained intact in NYC. Terms of the deal weren't officially disclosed but news reports place the sale price at about $150 million.

Bēhance has hosted more than 2.3 million public projects from 170 countries. Those projects have generated some 33.6 million “appreciations” from members and visitors to the site.

Talent Search If you want to hire a creative, Adobe has launched Talent Search, a recruitment tool that enables those looking for experts to find the best designers, illustrators and artists via their portfolios.

Businesses like LinkedIn, Adweek, Cooper-Hewitt, National Design Museum, and schools such as the Art Center College of Design, Rhode Island School of Design and School of Visual Arts have used Bēhance's services.

“... Bēhance has become one of the main places for recruiting new talent. It's where people come when they're looking to hire great creatives. And Talent Search will enable any hiring manager, recruiter or agency to use our advanced discovery tools to find the right talent. Our custom algorithms will recommend candidates for roles, and they will get smarter the more our recruiters use them.”

Super-Modified: The Bēhance Book of Creative Work

The Bēhance curatorial team shared experience on new directions in art and design based on years of reviewing projects uploaded by creatives all over the world. Thier choices mark a broad range of work, organized into 18 chapters that looks at:

- How a simple material like felt is being remixed in office spaces, character designs, and furniture
- How computer algorithms are used to generate breathtaking abstract shapes
- How recycle design is reinventing everything from discarded aluminum cans to shipping containers

Super-Modified features 288 pages of stunning work that includes:

- In-depth interviews with top creatives
- Behind-the-scenes process notes on how the work is created

From innovative approaches to traditional crafts to unexpected uses of new technologies — art and design is being reinvented by today's creatives. Their willingness to share it on Bēhance will inspire you.

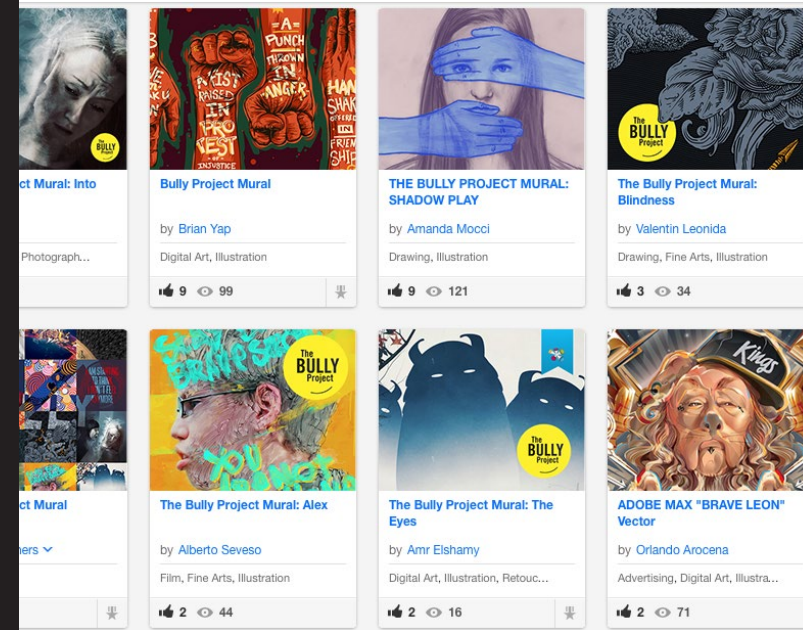

Get the book at: gestalten.com/super-modified.html

The Bully Mural Project on Bēhance

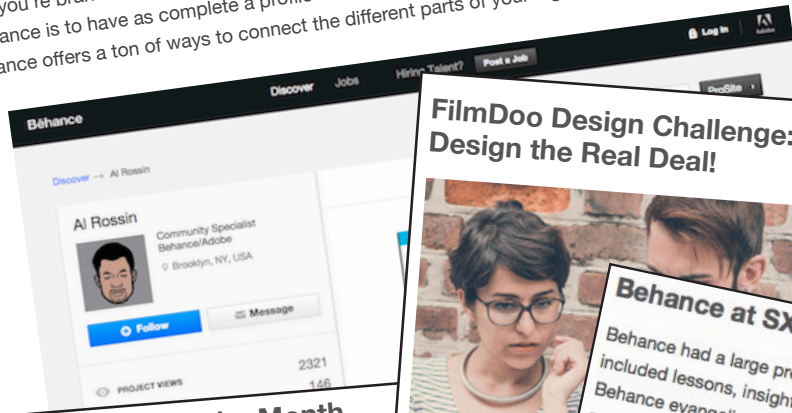

A digital space where people share art, stories, and perspectives about bullying, its impact, and how the creative community can help stop it. The artwork and projects come from the Bēhance members. View the full mural at www.thebullyprojectmural.com.

To share your story, go to Bēhance, create a new project, and add your artwork and narrative to the growing number of creative people stepping up to stop bullying. Make sure you use the hash tag #thebullyprojectmural so that your project can be easily located.

Behance Best Practices: Filling Out Your Profile

Whether you're brand new to Behance or have been with us since day one, a major key to finding success with Behance is to have as complete a profile as possible. This means different things to different people, but Behance offers a ton of ways to connect the different parts of your digital life in once place.
